

ONTOLOGICAL ANALYSIS OF DIVINITY

2018

If one's god does not approve of what's happening in the world then that god is either powerless or sadistic. In either case, that god is irrelevant.

Therefore, the only god that can exist is one that is OK with everything that is happening and ever has happened. Indeed, that god is powerful but also seems quite sadistic.

Therefore, we are left to accept that god is either irrelevant, a sadist, or something much less structured than the popular concept of an anthropomorphized man. ⁶¹

We can say, "god doesn't exist" and be confident in our arrogance.

However, we cannot ignore that something is repeatedly driving large numbers of people to act in the same illogical way over and over throughout history.

⁶¹ Assigning any sort of intention behind the state of things forces god into a position where it must have conscious will or desire (i.e. the old man in the clouds) and that is fundamentally unsupported by the evidence.

So, the simplest explanation consistent with observable behavior is to redefine the concept we refer to as god as being the force of humanity's collective unconscious acting on groups of people at a time.

In that case, in order to change the conditions of the world, we must work to improve the mental and emotional condition of large numbers of people. The liberating aspect of this message is that we are not subject to the will of some external entity we have no influence over. Quite the opposite; salvation - on a global scale - is entirely within our control.

"There is no god but man" -- Aleister Crowley⁶²

⁶² Crowley, Aleister. Liber OZ. Ordo Templi Orientis, 1941